Dear Sir:

No doubt you read Ernest K. Lindley's informative columns on developments in the Far East as they appeared in Newsweek during the spring and summer of this year.

Each column, datelined from a country in that vital area, proved of keen interest to all who are interested in world affairs and in the sweep of Soviet influence.

Recently, I took the entire series home with me for study. In doing so, I came to a very interesting realization ... only in reading the series at a sitting does one absorb the full impact, the complete significance of the changing picture in the Far Eastern area.

That is how the attached brochure came into being ... Lindley's columns from the Far East, collected in one place for ready reference, so that you, too, can quickly assess the drama that is unfolding in this heavily populated and increasingly influential portion of the globe.

You will find the columns containing his conclusions stapled together and on top.

It is my hope that you will find the attached brochure helpfully informative and that you may wish to pass it along for study by your associates.

Sincerely,

Gibson McCabe
